

Initial Meeting Record

Creative Director: Aiden Cole

Designer: Sophia Marlin

The design and main focus of the site will be centered around the artworks of Leonora Carrington. Within the main page, there will be a navigation bar and a small introduction to the artist herself. When scrolling through the page, the user will get to explore some of the extremely detailed and interestingly strange/surreal artworks at a large scale and high resolution. When exploring, the user will find interactive buttons that take the form of different elements or symbols within the artwork that, when clicking on them or hovering, will drop down information and context behind the symbol. The user will access the information through the artwork with a large degree of exploration and curiosity but with an emphasis on making the access to the information clear (not completely lost or a distraction from the art).
